Odd Boss Pedal Combination of the Moment

by DB Cooper » 03 Mar 2012, 02:10

Tonight's fun has included:

BD2>BF3>DD3>DD5 ...lots of cool delay and echo stuff, and with the BF3 on Gate setting with the Depth @ 10:00 and the Rate @ 10:00, some really cool stuff.

and

CS1>MT2>TR2>FT2 ...I don't know what to say about this, but my wife says it's freakin' her out. I take that as a compliment

PW-2 -> AC-2 ?! Reading it only already sounds ugly!

It actually sounds pretty neat. I'm running it into my podxt for some reverb and delay and it it sounds very synthy. Then on top of that I use and Ebow sometimes and it really turns up the synthyness.

No matter what effect you have engaged, a well cranked BF-2 always adds a healthy portion of weirdness.

BF-2 and a delay on the verge of self-oscillation:

What I like as well:

SYB-3 -> PN-2 (or another tremolo pedal) fast, square wave type tremolo at Output A, Output B (original signal) left clean.

If the decay rate is set high, you get a mosquito like synth sound. It's been eight years ago or so that I tried it, but I remember it sounding really nice! I also placed a CryBaby before the tremolo and it was great! Because the fundament was still there at Output B, the CryBaby's low-end sucking was not noticeable. It always bugged me that the SYB-3 has no foot control for the filter.

I still have no SYB-5.

Another one i've been using:

sd-1->ac-2->podxt
the pod xt setting is: tube screamer->1993 solo head->4x12 1967 green 20's with a sm57 on axis at 50% back

Well it's Boss & EHX but it sounds awesome: Big Muff ---> OD-3

Well the odd combination i stumbled on is my current rig - Ibanez RS530 > Boss DS-1 > Boss KM-04 mixer > Boss NS-2 > Fender 25R...it sounds awesome and the KM-04 gives me more drive then i could want!!

Ive also had this as my rig to play certain Vinnie Moore songs for example - Musicman Sub-1 > Ibanez Powertrio > Thomas Organ Crybaby > Boss NS-2 > drive from Fender 25R

Zoom mrt-3 +ds-1+ac-2weird even for me.
Zoom mrt-3+pw-2+ac-2 unusable. The pw-2 only seemed to add hiss to the signal
The zoom +ac-2 is ok if you turn the top knob down a whole bunch.

It the moment it's PQ4>MZ2>DD3 set the pq4 to 'acoustic', the mz2 drive is low, and the delay is set to either slapback, reverb, to tape delay the mz2 chorus almost reminds me of the dc2 but digital...
