Boss MO-2 Multi-Overtone

POSTREPLY Search this topic... Search

10 posts • Page 1 of 1

Boss MO-2 Multi-Overtone

by Gasgano » 26 Mar 2016, 20:35

Instead of polluting the New Boss Pedals thread, I thought it would be better to start a new one.

I've put my hand on an inexpensive MO-2 Multi-Overtone. At first, I was thinking "meh, that's just a polyphonic octaver".

And then I raised the detune knob. Whoa. I can play organ now! I can see so many situations where I would need an organ ambience in the back of a song (wall of sound) and being able to use that pedal is nice. I think Boss did not stress the "organ" fact enough when they sold that thing. Too busy selling Tera Echo I guess.

I know I'm the only guy here that loves the digital stuff , but any of you guys have tried it? What are your impressions?

Gasgano

Posts: 451
Joined: 02 Sep 2015, 17:53
Location: Montreal, QC

Re: Boss MO-2 Multi-Overtone

by Pepe » 26 Mar 2016, 21:28

To be honest, I didn't care very much for the Multi Overtone and the Tera Echo since they were introduced. They somehow flew under my GAS radar ever since. But your review makes me want to try one out soon. I have to add the MO-2 to my search list.

Pepe

BOSS GREAT PLATINUM

Posts: 4664
Joined: 25 Nov 2011, 20:04
Location: Germany

Re: Boss MO-2 Multi-Overtone

by Gasgano » 26 Mar 2016, 21:49

And that's pretty much how I felt about these pedals too, but the pricetag on that one made me pull the trigger and boy was I surprised. The same thing happened to me with my beloved DA-2 too, so that made me opened to trying the rest of the trio. I have yet to try TE-2 but pricetags on them make them an expensive risk/flip.

Gasgano

Posts: 451
Joined: 02 Sep 2015, 17:53
Location: Montreal, QC

Re: Boss MO-2 Multi-Overtone

by charmonder » 26 Mar 2016, 21:53

I love the MO-2! It's one of the only few "fx" that I really use, I'm cheating though I use the on board MO-2 from a GT-100 multieffect. I'm pretty sure it's the exact same as the real MO-2 without stereo function. It's impressive how flawlessly it tracks all playing styles. I have a little soundclip, I managed to slip some multi overtone into the band http://vocaroo.com/i/s0yqdq13KrLG

charmonder

Posts: 951
Joined: 04 Oct 2012, 17:45

Re: Boss MO-2 Multi-Overtone

by Ashton » 26 Mar 2016, 22:28

Agreed! The MO-2 is one of my secret weapons, like you said you can get semi decent organ sounds. Records very well, just gotta play with it a bit.

Boss really knocked it out of the park with all three when these came out, the DA-2, MO-2, and TE-2 are all killer!

Ashton

Posts: 121
Joined: 07 Dec 2011, 05:17

Re: Boss MO-2 Multi-Overtone

by Mark123 » 27 Mar 2016, 14:25

Never played the MO-2, but got to buy a new TE-2 at a 50% discount just after it was released. Played it for half an hour max and sold it. Didn't like it at all. I could track it for months in the local list as went from new owner to new owner.
I keep reading reviews of players that like it lot, so now i wish i had given it some more time to (probably) get familiar with it.

Mark123

Posts: 458
Joined: 06 May 2014, 21:28
Location: Netherlands

Re: Boss MO-2 Multi-Overtone

by Gasgano » 27 Mar 2016, 15:51

I almost did the same with the MO-2 and decided to give it another shot the day after. Don't regret it.

Gasgano

Posts: 451
Joined: 02 Sep 2015, 17:53
Location: Montreal, QC

Re: Boss MO-2 Multi-Overtone

by Pieraga » 27 Mar 2016, 22:13

You might as well consider Ehx B9/C9 if you're looking for Organ-like effects, almost the same price but with more modes,,

Pieraga

Posts: 114
Joined: 12 Feb 2016, 20:14
Location: Perla del Mar de Oriente

Re: Boss MO-2 Multi-Overtone

by Gasgano » 28 Mar 2016, 00:10

True that, but the obe I purchased was very cheap. It was not new and at a price impossible to pass on

Gasgano

Posts: 451
Joined: 02 Sep 2015, 17:53
Location: Montreal, QC

Re: Boss MO-2 Multi-Overtone

by Bruno » 28 Mar 2016, 10:29

At first, when the MO-2 was released, I wasn't overwhelmed, but now, I spent some time listening to some demos : that's a hell of a pedal.
Do any of you try to use it with a bass? How low can you go without sounding like crap?

Bruno

Posts: 44
Joined: 19 Dec 2013, 10:10
Location: France

Quick Reply

Display posts from previous: All posts Sort by Post time Ascending Go

POSTREPLY

10 posts • Page 1 of 1

‹ Return to Boss Pedals

Jump to: Boss Pedals Go

WHO IS ONLINE

Users browsing this forum: Pepe and 2 guests

Powered by phpBB® Forum Software © phpBB Group