Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by fx23 » 01 Apr 2012, 15:47

anyone tried the new Boss FB2 Feedback Booster?

i was looking into buying a Boss DF2 Super Feedbacker and Distortion But the distortion and feedback synth tone sounded rubbish

fx23

Re: Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by Jeremy » 01 Apr 2012, 16:03

I've heard its pretty good if you like things COSMic

I've never tried one but I expect it would be better than the DF-2 at the classic rock feedbacky thing. I've got a few DF-2s, including a Merv Jones-modded Monte Allums RoXX modded one which is pretty wicked. Maybe Merv will pipe up on this, he's a member here

I can get some wild howls happenin with all my DF-2s now that I've worked out the three way relationship between the 'overtone' knob and the note I'm playing (or key) and the vol knob on my guitar.

The black labelled ones have good distortion to start with. I use my Merv a lot as a distortion, sometimes I don't use the feedbacker much.

The FB-2 is supposed to pretty good, and its got a boost - choose your own distortion to put after (or before?) it - pretty useful!

Jeremy

Re: Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by Laurie » 01 Apr 2012, 16:24

I have an FB-2 and it went straight into the collection, didn't hit the pedalboard. Just doesn't float-my-boat. I prefer the crappyness of the DF-2 over the "processed-ness" of the FB-2.

Laurie

Re: Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by natthu » 02 Apr 2012, 00:25

I have not tried an FB-2 yet, but the 'crappyness' of the DF-2 is growing on me

natthu

Re: Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by Jeremy » 02 Apr 2012, 02:38

"let it grow, let it grow, let it blossom, let it flow"

Jeremy

Re: Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by Arpeggiator » 02 Apr 2012, 10:18

Well, the DF-2 is not THAT bad...

Arpeggiator

Re: Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by 944cabby » 09 Apr 2012, 21:10

I was well dissapointed with the df-2, not what i expected at all - i soon sold it on.

944cabby

Re: Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by Pieces Of The Night » 09 Apr 2012, 21:18

I haven't tried the Fb-2 but I wish it had a second jack like a trig in or exp pedal jack to run the feedback part of it that way you could keep the pedal up off the floor on an amp or in a rack or something.

Pieces Of The Night

Re: Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by The_Doc » 09 Apr 2012, 22:59

Having seen this thread and been reminded of the FB-2 today, I spent some time with it.

Using it purely as a booster, I think it should have been called the FMB-2 ie. 'Feedbacker / Mid-booster' because that's what it does and only that really. I had hoped to use it as a treble booster but that's not possible. I won't use it live unless I need that specific mid-hump tone or artificially sounding feedback and so into the studio effects collection it goes for now

The_Doc

Re: Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by Arpeggiator » 11 Apr 2012, 15:16

I just managed to snag an FB-2 for cheap. I will try and express my feelings when I get it.

Arpeggiator

Re: Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by jan » 09 Jun 2012, 00:00

I'm liking mine so far. I can get string feedback at low volume, using a low output Stratocaster through a silver faced Fender Pro Reverb.

jan

Re: Boss FB2 Feedback Booster

by fendrix_81 » 11 Jun 2012, 10:30

i have the boss super feedback distortion, i dont like the sound of the pedal but i love the feedback

fendrix_81