NGD, NGGD

by DasBeef » 24 May 2013, 00:36

Right, I haven't been on the forum/internets that much lately as I've been moving in with my girl, and getting my house ready to sell. Anyway, excuses out of the way, I've had this first one for a while, but have yet to post about it.....

1976 Fender Musicmaster. Quite a few marks and some awesome checking. Plays and sounds amazing.

So that's the NGD day out of the way. What could NGGD stand for? Yup, it's Guild. I'll say nothing else other than I scored a 1965 S-100 Polara and it's amazing.

photobucket
host. store. share.
photobucket
host. store. share.

photobucket
host. store. share.
photobucket
host. store. share.

DasBeef

Re: NGD, NGGD

by natthu » 24 May 2013, 06:12

Sexy. Both of them.

You must have a fairly serious vintage collection starting to take shape now....

natthu

Re: NGD, NGGD

by The_Doc » 24 May 2013, 09:09

Great scores Beef - excellent lookers too

What do those pups on your Guild sound like - they look like mini HB's.

Good luck with the move too - hope that goes well.

The_Doc

Re: NGD, NGGD

by Pepe » 24 May 2013, 09:33

Cool! Especially the Guild. Soon you're friends will have to pay an entrance fee to visit your museum, huh?

Pepe

Re: NGD, NGGD

by DB Cooper » 24 May 2013, 11:14

Sweet vintage guitars! Nice!

DB Cooper

Re: NGD, NGGD

by Mully » 29 May 2013, 12:25

NICE

Mully

Re: NGD, NGGD

by Franzoni » 29 May 2013, 15:31

Nice....

The Guilds bodyshape sorta reminds me of the old Epiphone Coronet from the 60's ...looks like a really nice sleeper guitar that will become more rare....

Franzoni

Re: NGD, NGGD

by Vim Fuego » 22 Jun 2013, 19:18

Love that musicmaster!! Congrats

Hope your girlfriend has a lot of space for your collection

Vim Fuego

Re: NGD, NGGD

by nathanscribe » 22 Jun 2013, 19:39

> Vim Fuego wrote:
> Hope your girlfriend has a lot of space for your collection 😄

Haha, truth is spoken here. 😄

Congrats on the move, as well as the acquisitions!

nathanscribe

Re: NGD, NGGD

by FastEddie » 22 Jun 2013, 22:30

They look nice

FastEddie

Re: NGD, NGGD

by DasBeef » 24 Jun 2013, 01:34

She's starting to realise what gas is and thinks it's a real sickness. Still not had much time to rock these out, but finally got my house on the market. Now to sort all the stuff I've moved into her house.

Not sure what pickups are in the Guild, but they sound great. Just after I bought it, one turned up in the UK on a guitar shops website. Still, I got a better deal than they are offering even though I did get pumped for customs and tax. Grrr.....

DasBeef