NF-1 question!

by findbugbug » 04 Aug 2013, 05:11

Hello everyone,I'm new here.
I've got a question for my ss nf-1.I can't find any serial number of my nf-1.I think the pedeal is the earliest version with transparent switch.But,wut's the problem with the serial number?Can anyone help?
I post the pics of the pedal for detail.

findbugbug

Re: NF-1 question!

by Pepe » 04 Aug 2013, 13:28

Welcome to the forum!

Seems like the previous owner (you got it used, didn't you?) cleaned the pedal's insides and wiped away the ink of the stamped serial number.

Pepe

Re: NF-1 question!

by techhed » 25 Sep 2014, 21:43

Wouldn't there be a way to date other parts in the pedal? Like the pots?

techhed

Re: NF-1 question!

by charmonder » 25 Sep 2014, 23:19

thanks for sharing these pictures! I love how PCB designs looked so expressive back then.

The pots might help put an exact date, but there are plenty of clues already:
-long dash,
-clear "skeleton" switch,
-big hole battery compartment
-silver screw

I think it's reasonably safe to assume this is one of the very first runs of NF-1s, so 1979 or 1980.

charmonder

Re: NF-1 question!

by Dirk » 26 Sep 2014, 16:21

Good find!

Dirk

Re: NF-1 question!

by ChristoMephisto » 08 Oct 2014, 01:35

My SS NF1 has the serial number 432300, but the switch is black,
It's also been inverted to a SG1

ChristoMephisto

Re: NF-1 question!

by verivorax » 08 Oct 2014, 04:49

The skeleton switch only appears up to batch #8800 or so (Nov '79), so it's certainly within the first 9 months of production on that pedal! Nice old one!!

verivorax

Re: NF-1 question!

by Mesjoggah » 13 Oct 2014, 17:52

i had a NF-1 exactly the same, sold it about two months ago (no it is not this one..) it also did not have a serial stamped on it, i've looked with infrared light and with magnifiers and i am almost sure there never was a stamped serial on these pedals.

Mesjoggah