I got a silver machine...

by fuzzbuzzfuzz » 24 Sep 2016, 00:10

A curious auction find. Right is new, left is my LED modded original. The new silver one has red striped input and output transfers/stickers.

Chap also had a blue with white lettering DSD-2, go figure!

fuzzbuzzfuzz

Re: I got a silver machine...

by fernieite » 27 Sep 2016, 20:10

Wow, those look nice! Are they a good sounding phaser?

fernieite

Re: I got a silver machine...

by charmonder » 27 Sep 2016, 20:58

> fuzzbuzzfuzz wrote:
> A curious auction find. Right is new, left is my LED modded original. The new silver one has red striped input and output transfers/stickers.
>
> Chap also had a blue with white lettering DSD-2, go figure!

I've never seen this version DSD-2! I want one!

charmonder

Re: I got a silver machine...

by fuzzbuzzfuzz » 30 Sep 2016, 07:13

I was so close to pulling the trigger. I thought is it a trick? Is it repainted? But it would be very hard to replicate completely different colored font graphics. I should have bought it!

fuzzbuzzfuzz

Re: I got a silver machine...

by fuzzbuzzfuzz » 30 Sep 2016, 07:16

> fernieite wrote:
> Wow, those look nice! Are they a good sounding phaser?

Absolutely lovely and very very 70s. Very sweet sounding, similar to a PH-1R but a bit more clear - 18v heart I guess helps. It is impossible to play one and not do some Ernie Isley

Recommended!

fuzzbuzzfuzz

Re: I got a silver machine...

by toyroomtim » 14 Oct 2016, 19:41

The blue body DSD2 didn't look right. The font size was a bit off. That's why I didn't buy it tbh, not worth it for what looked like a refinish.

toyroomtim

Re: I got a silver machine...

by fuzzbuzzfuzz » 20 Oct 2016, 08:38

Yeah it was a rather fuzzy old photo set too, I was similarly on the fence. The silver AP-2 will raise some eyebrows I guess! I`m actually reconsidering another Mayer Classic Fuzz in silver just to have a snazzy 70s spaceship Buck Rogers pedalboard

fuzzbuzzfuzz

Re: I got a silver machine...

by toyroomtim » 20 Oct 2016, 09:45

if you're ever looking to sell it let me know i collect odd serial numbers and colours for Boss/Roland pedals.

toyroomtim