The photo doesn't do it justice...

Then show us a better one with higher resolution!

It will produce better results,but ditch the flash and try for more natural light. You got what they call hot spots in the picture.

That sparkle finish will really pop with the correct lighting.

Very classy. I feel like I'd have to put on tuxedo to play it.

Looks like it doesn't have the writing on the foot of the pedal, or is it just glare obscuring it?

The black one up above was a mockup... nothing inside.

The black housings aren't back from the printer yet, but I had a white one with dodgy paint that the printer did a test print on (it is the only white one that will ever be made...).

This is the very first "production" (working) LGP.

I am very, very happy with the tone of this beast... it sounds bloody fantastic.

Looks pretty nice Laurie.

So you're not going to sell the white version as a 'Extra Bling Special Edition'? 😄

Maybe eventually... the first run will all be black (liquid gold ... crude oil ... black...)

Sexy...

Is your home built pedalboard all finished? (did I miss the thread with that in it?)

Thanks!

Yeah, the pedal-board is now full. I'll take some pics soon.
